Well, I wouldn't have believed that the decorative crise had reached such a hight in this country. Here's Oscar Wilde only been in America.

Speaking of Thomas: This distinguished composer is said to have met Cesnola recently at a dinner party. They grasped hands cordially. "I have heard of you," said Thomas, "through the newspapers. They called you a frand." "That wasn't the best of it—they proved it," replied Cesnols, laughingly. "I congratulate you," said Thomas, "they did the same with me. But it doesn't make any difference." "Not a bit," said Cesnola. "This is a noble counsity," said Cesnola. "This is a noble counsity of surprise when one looks to conceived in the highest heroic type of humanity. The catastrophe of every play is caused always by the folly or fault of a man; the redemption, if there be any, is by the wisdom and virtue of a woman, and failing the highest heroic type of humanity. It doesn't make any difference. Not a bit," said Cesnola. This is a noble counter fact characters are all women. It has now become a matter of surprise when one looks back to exrlier ages that woman has not allowed to exrlier ages training in the coeducational universities and colleges of the North and West-at Varsar and at Wellesly Co.leges, and even con-servative England has her Girton College It must be confessed with regret, and not without shame, that we of the South are far behind the rest of the world in this regard. For if we have not the means of founding ities for woman's education, we hould at least admit her to those we have already established. Many of the universi-ties of the North and West have adopted the coeducational plan with excellent results. It is no longer a debatable question that a woman may, with credit to herself, pursue any occupation in life for which she is physically qualified. If we will only prowide for her the proper mental training, and show a proper esteem for those who have the courage to disregard irrational conventionalities, and be the pioneers for their sex
